

Carmel teachers learn to write

THE CARMEL Unified School District was represented at the Jack Kates' Writing Seminar held Saturday, March 12 in Carmel. Eighteen Carmel teachers and administrators attended the workshop as part of the CUSD effort to further improve instruction in English composition. Jack Kates, with a background as successful teacher and author, offers the seminar throughout North America. Saturday's seminar was attended by 60 teachers of writing in California schools and colleges. (Photographs and text by Jay and Bob Whitehead)

STUDENTS TERRIE WATKINS (MPC), Becky Garner (Baymonte Christian), Kim Allred (Woods School), Paul Everetts (Woods School), and Jay Whitehead (Carmel High) provided writing samples for the Kates' demonstration and were given suggestions to help them write more effectively.

JACK McCORMACK, Ray Wilson, and Paula Walling, teachers at Woods and Captain Cooper Elementary Schools, were among those who attended to improve their skills in the teaching of writing.

Non-rationed rummage

"Non-Rationed Rummage" awaits the Early Birds who shop the St. Dunstan's Episcopal church benefit this Friday and Saturday from 9:30 until 2 p.m. The sale will be held in the Robinson Canyon church and boasts such treasures as premium clothing, wheel barrows and a disassembled wet bar.

Cochairmen, Mrs. Helen Parker and Mrs. Dorothy McInroe urge you to shop both days at the "Non-Rationed Rummage Sale."

Chamber music

"A Souper Supper" — several varieties of homemade soups — brought together York School faculty, parents and students for a unique dinner party followed by an evening of chamber music in the Frank Bishop library on the York Campus.

The music students of Stuart Sherman provided the entertainment and included flute selections presented by Laura Bennett whose piano accompaniment was provided by her mother, Mrs. Marge Bennett, of Carmel Valley.

FROM ART OBJECTS to chandeliers will be offered at the "non-rationed rummage sale" this Friday and Saturday between 9 and 2 at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church. Carlyle Mothersill and Joyce Quentel invite you to join the treasure hunt and to visit the snack bar for treats.

Wedding vows

Wedding vows exchanged Friday evening united two long time Valley residents in marriage. Mrs. Margaret Thurston, widow of Thomas Thurston, former owner of the Village Hardware and Austin E. (Ed) Mayfield, building contractor of Carmel Valley and Napa, drove to Carson City, Nev., where they were married by Rev. Gordon Millard. The couple is now at home at 99 Ford Road.

CHS rummage needed

Student scholarships are funded from the proceeds of the annual Carmel High School Rummage Sale scheduled this year for Saturday, March 26 and Sunday, March 27 in the Donald Craig Gymnasium. Rummage is still needed according to cochairmen, Jeannette Swanson and Mildred Hattan, who request that items to be recycled for scholarships be taken to the High School; any elementary school in the Carmel district or to the General Store in Carmel Valley. For pick-ups you are invited to phone; Vonda Tibbitts, 624-4519; Gail Buche, who heads publicity, 659-4183; Jean Cummings, in charge of cashiers, 659-2077; or the cochairmen, 659-2468 or 659-4160.

Chairmen in charge of the following departments, may also be contacted if you have rummage donations or would like to volunteer to work on this once-a-year high school fund raiser.

Quarter horse to be offered at Chamber auction

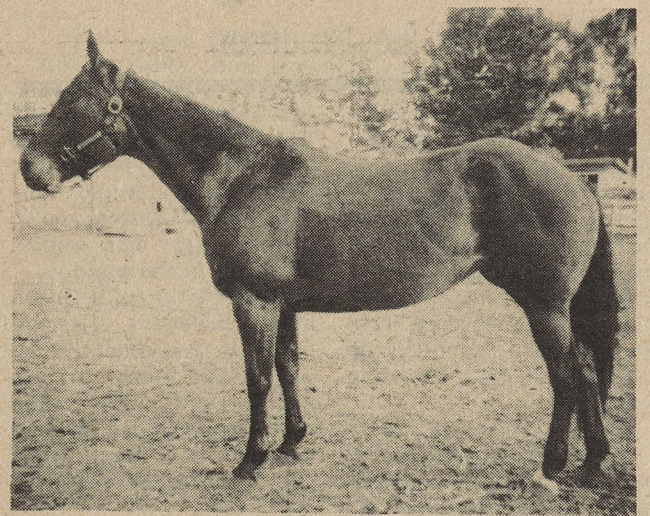

Latest additions for Carmel Valley's annual "Auction d'Elegance" on Saturday, March 19, include a registered six-year-old quarter horse valued at $1,200, a week in a Lake Tahoe Condominium and an ocean cruise. Other unusual items for bidding are an evening of music by Hidden Valley Seminars. Peter Meckel says they will tailor the entertainment to the occasion—a special party, a wedding or anniversary.

The unique "Silent Auction," which will also feature over 150 items of furniture, art, services and merchandise from local businesses, will be held in Carmel Valley at the Hidden Valley Theatre. There will be a champagne buffet featuring a Baron of Beef beginning at 7 p.m. and the winners will be announced at 10 p.m.

The public is invited. All proceeds will benefit the Carmel Valley Community Center, Hidden Valley Music Seminars, and community projects of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event.

"HONEY BEE," a six-year old bay mare, has been donated to Carmel Valley's Auction d'Elegance which is scheduled for Saturday night, March 19. Donated by Lin and Nancy Eldridge, the registered quarter horse stands 15.2 hands, is gentle, and valued at $1,200.

Junior tennis tourney held

The first Junior Satellite Tournament to be held on the Peninsula was played the last two weekends, March 5-6, 12-13 at the Carmel Valley Racquet Club.

This tournament is sanctioned by the Northern California Tennis Association. The semi-finalists and finalists from this tournament qualify to play in championship level Junior Tournaments throughout northern California this spring. In order to achieve ranking in Northern California Junior Tennis, a player must do well in championship level tournaments.

On the second weekend, although play was to begin at 8 a.m., Saturday morning, rainfall postponed the event. A task force of players, parents and club members combined efforts and dried off the courts, enabling the matches to commence at 1 p.m.

The final results:

Boys 18 singles: Kurt Richter (Auburn) defeated Thad Stewart (Carmel) 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Boys 18 doubles: Dagley-Goldfein (Mill Valley) defeated Wong-Stine (Oakland) 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Boys 16 singles: Landon Nishimura (San Jose) defeated Rob Stein (Walnut Creek) 7-5, 6-4.

Boys 16 doubles: Booker-James (San Francisco) defeated Reiff-Schneider (San Rafael) 6-3, 7-6, (5-3).

Boys 14 singles: Phil Discolo (Oakland) defeated Larry Bohn (Monterey) 6-2, 6-3.

Boys 14 doubles: DeRouen-DeRouen (Carmel) defeated Boyden-Rende (Greenbrae) 1-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Boys 12 singles: Ross Berner (Palo Alto) defeated Brian Cory (Sunnyvale) 6-4, 6-2.

Boys 12 doubles: Cory (Sunnyvale) - Krulevitch (Los Altos) defeated Sartorio (Foster City)-Layton (Hillsborough) 6-0, 6-3.

Boys 10 singles: David Stewart (Saratoga) defeated Ted Feingold (Los Gatos) 6-2, 6-3.

Girls 18 singles: Brenda Barth (Lodi) defeated Lisa Gefken (San Anselmo) 6-2, 6-3.

Lecture set on American Indian houses

American Indian Houses will be the subject of a free public lecture by Peter Nabokov and Bob Easton to be presented Sunday March 20 to the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History Association.

Peter Nabokov has been a research associate of the Museum of the American Indian, New York, since 1962 publishing numerous articles on Indian themes under their auspices. In 1977 T.Y. Crowell will publish his two-volume "Native Testimony," an anthology of Indian-White relations as seen through Indian eyes.

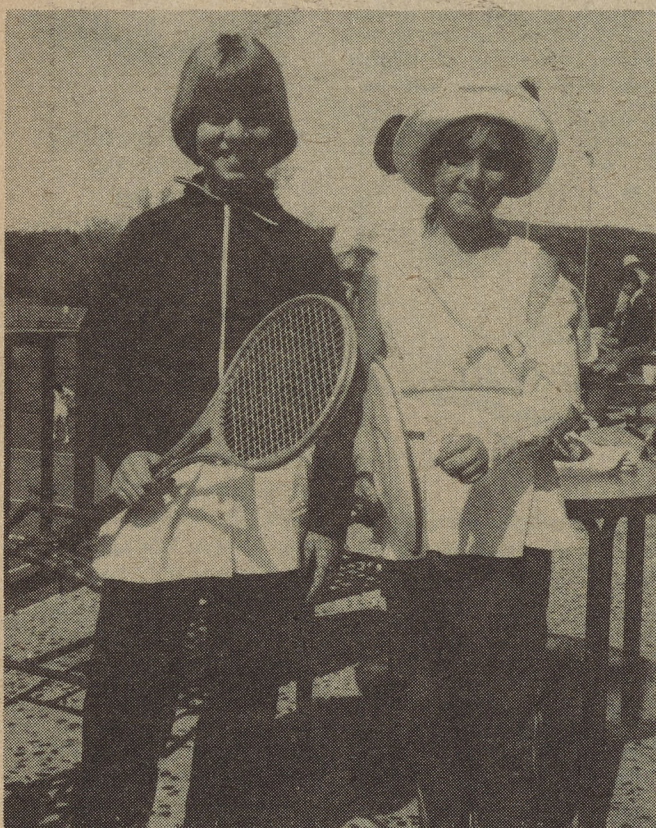

Bob Easton is a house designer and builder now residing in Santa Barbara. He is co-author of "Shelter," a book on indigenous architecture around the world. His designs have recently been featured in "Santa Barbara Architecture."

For the past two years Nabokov and Easton have conducted a massive

The horse business is like a chain letter. Everybody who has sunk what he feels to be an unreasonable amount of money in riding lessons tries to recoup a little by teaching beginners. Every breeder who has invested in more than one stud fee has a horse to sell — usually on bloodlines for breeding purposes.

Some purebred horse associations remind me of that cosmetic company that was slapped down by the U.S. Supreme Court a few years ago. The would-be cosmetic salesman paid $5000 dollars for a franchise and was expected to recoup his money not by selling cosmetics but by selling other franchises. The trouble with pyramid schemes like this is the same trouble with chain letters. By about three steps down the line you've used up all the people in the U.S. and by four steps you've involved every man, woman and child in the world.

We don't worry too much about breeders. Eternal optimists that they are, let 'em caveat emptor to their hearts' content. Breeders have always added one and one and gotten three, or — with a little hustle — three in one.

We do worry about beginning riders. They're such innocents. How can they be expected to know how quickly a fool and his money are parted? It's not just the money either. It's the safety, the lowering of standards of the art of horsemanship, the misuse of horses, and most tragically, the discouraged beginners who decide they really don't like horses after all.

Here are some hard questions laid out for the beginner who doesn't know what he's getting nor even the right questions to ask.

This so called riding teacher, what does he have for school horses? Riders learn more through the seat of their pants than through their ears.

Are the school horses kept for just schooling young riders? It's better if they are real live horses that go to shows, endurance rides, or similar demanding competitions and get the carbon blown out of their tubes by working for a living. Horses that are only school horses either go sour or were impossible to begin with.

Does the teacher have enough different school horses that the rider can learn different things from different horses? Horses for courses is not just a racing term. It can also refer to the need for different horses for different courses of learning.

Are the school horses permanent fixtures or do they happen to be animals the teacher has for sale only he hasn't happened to sell this one yet? Hopefully, one's relationship with a riding teacher or school continues for some time. Maybe it drops away and returns in a year or two. Anyhow, there's your old friends, the same school horses.

An occasional sale horse working out with the school string is understandable.

Now about the people. Who hangs around the place? Is it safe for young girls to spend the day unchaperoned? (Don't take THEIR word for it. Make unannounced surprised inspections of the hay stack.)

What about people who send their horses or children to this trainer? Do they stick with it — or does he depend on a supply of newcomers? Do the stick-to-it-ers really care what happens out behind the barn or are they the sort of people who just want to win ribbons?

Now about the facilities. We are not impressed by paint jobs and flower beds. We know at least one super riding teacher who operates on inverse snobbism — refuses to paint and plant on the grounds that she doesn't want to waste her time on the kinds of people that sort of thing attracts.

What is more down to earth is the footing provided under the horses' hooves. Sand for working areas, drainage in the stalls, save the decomposed granite for the parking area. Is there a suitably sized riding ring where a horse can really straighten out and get his act together down the long side before he has to turn the corner? Or does all the teaching have to take place out on the trails with the teacher following along shouting instructions and hoping for the best?

Are the jumps wide enough so that the wobbly beginner doesn't have to steer. Are the field jumps professionally designed with the solid parts lashed on rather than nailed on? Are the distances between them carefully measured to allow a horse to carry a beginner smoothly in stride from one to the next?

IT IS A PROUD DAY for 4-H boys and girls when they see the dogs they have raised presented to their blind masters as full-fledged Guide Dogs. Shown above having a reunion with golden retriever Lloyd after a six-month separation, is 4-H member Patricia Collins of Carmel Valley. The dogs are born and raised to the age of 13 weeks on the 11-acre campus of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., San Rafael, California. Then they are farmed out to 4-H youngsters who raise them and teach them simple obedience and good manners. When the dogs are 17 months old they are returned to the school for an intensive program of training to become Guide Dogs for the blind. There is no charge to the blind for the dogs and the organization is supported entirely by private contributions. 4-H'er Patricia was invited by Guide Dogs for the Blind to make the formal presentation of Lloyd to Juanita Wilson of Sacramento at graduation exercises on Saturday, March 5, 1977 marking the successful conclusion of a month's training course for a class of blind persons.

The horse world is plagued with two kinds of riding teachers which it could plainly do without: Little Susie down the street who has her own horsie and will teach the neighborhood kiddies how to ride; and the snappy dressing, smooth talking, money grabbing charmer who caters to beginners hooked on white painted fences, and their picture in the local paper, just before the local horse show.

Keep looking. The love of horses is something sacred. The art of horsemanship totally entrancing. There are teachers who will reach out to the outsider and show him the way — into the horse-world...a lovely place to be.

Soccer team awards

The Carmel High School Junior Varsity winners of the 1976-77 Soccer League Championship — its first in the school's history — set a gala mood for the Awards Banquet attended by 60 members of the Varsity-Junior Varsity players and their coaches at the Warehouse on Cannery Row.

Frank Lynch, Varsity coach, presented trophies to Kelly Beckett, Carmel Valley, for Most Valuable Player; and to Joey Cate, Carmel, Most Improved. The varsity season record read: 3 Wins — 5 Losses. Junior Varsity players cited for the 1976-77 season were: John Heebner, Carmel, Most Valuable Player; and Chris Fromm, Carmel Valley, Most Improved. Mark Elliott, a Padre Alumnae, had coached the championship team.

Seven Carmel players were tapped for "All League" spots selected by the Mission Trails Athletic League Coaches. Kelly Beckett, Carmel Valley, was named to the All League First Team; while Rogue Hattan, Carmel Valley, Enrique Lopez, Carmel, and Fabian Riquetty, Carmel, were named to the All League second team. All League Honorable Mentions went to Joey Cate, Carmel, Steve Ramell, Carmel Valley and Kourouch Moczafarian, Carmel.

Valley judge honored

Congratulations to Monterey County Superior Court Judge Harjoon Paik who was recently honored for his published article, "America." The Valleyite received the Valley Forge Honor Certificate from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

Darch engagement

Elizabeth Darch with her fiancée Ted Meyenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gray Darch of Carmel Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth Anne Darch to Ted Meyenberg of Salinas.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Carmel High School and graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Agriculture from Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo. At present she is working towards a teaching credential in agriculture.

Her fiancée, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Meyenberg of Salinas, is a graduate of Salinas High School, Hartnell Jr. College and Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo, where he is currently doing graduate work in agriculture.

Elizabeth is the sister of John Darch, who is attending Fresno State University and of Kris Darch of Carmel Valley.

Ted is the brother of Dena Meyenberg who is attending UC Davis and of Sandra Meyenberg of Reno, Nevada.

The couple have set the date of July 30, 1977 for their wedding which will be held at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula in Carmel Valley.

CV Lions nominations

A slate of officers for the new 1977-78 year was presented to members of the Carmel Valley Lions Club at their meeting last Wednesday by members of the nominating committee.

Ballots for the April election will read: president, Frank Catalano; vice president, Clifford Bolgard; secretary, Ralph Morrow; treasurer, Peter Del Fino; board of directors (two year term), Maury Nessel and Clarence Castro; one year term, Gary Kitt and Richard McKensie.

Valley student honored

The coveted Monterey Peninsula Soroptimist Club's Youth Citizenship Award was bestowed upon a well known Carmel Valley Carmel High School Senior, Jim Ryan, who resides on Berwick Drive.

Active in sports, church and with a high scholastic record, Jim is currently student body president and serves as a volunteer council worker with the Monterey County Office of Education.

The award now makes Jim eligible to participate in the Soroptimists West Coast regional competition.

CSULB Symphony concert

Another evening of entertainment awaits music lovers who are invited to plan now to attend the concert to be presented in Sunset Center by the California State University Long Beach Symphonic Band on Sunday, March 27 at 2 p.m.

Members for the group are auditioned from more than 600 music majors and represent the finest of young wind and percussion performers in the Southern California area, and the ability of its conductor, Larry C. Curtis to achieve full total colors provides the audience with a unique listening experience.

The Carmel High School Band will sponsor the Long Beach musicians. Donations are $2 for adults and $1 for students. Tickets are available at the door.

of the Tustin Meraquas, who edged the Cypress duo of Robin Currier and Tina Wald to third place. In Solos, too, Parker pushed to second, but could not overtake Tara Cameron of the California Coralettes, who established an early lead in the Preliminary competition and captured the Solo crown. Cypress placements in the Solo competition were Robin Currier, fifth; Tina Wald, eighth; Pavia Wald, 14th; Stacey Hicks, 26th; and Suzy Hermanson, 28th.

In the Team event, following Preliminary competition, the top three teams — Riverside, Hayward, and Cypress — were all within a half-point of each other, with Glendale trailing seven-tenths of a point behind Cypress. In the Figures competition, however, Glendale jumped into first place and, as a result, moved ahead of both Cypress and Hayward in the Finals to place second behind the Riverside Aquettes. So the Cypress team of Robin Currier, Mary Harris, Suzy Hermanson, Stacey Hicks, Robin Pease, Kerry Wald, Pavia Wald, and Tina Wald, with alternates Cynthia Bottero and Eunice LaMica, had to settle for the fourth-place bronze medals.

Cypress Coach Donn Squire was pleased with the results, however. According to him, the principal reason for entering this meet was to obtain qualifying scores for entry of Solos and Duets into Senior National AAU Championships. Except for Robin Currier and Tina Wald, who are already seeded into 10th place nationally in Duet competition, all the other Cypress Duet entries needed to obtain qualifying scores. Three of the Cypress duos made the Senior National requirements, Suzy Hermanson and Stacey Hicks placing 16th; Mary Harris and Pavia Wald placing 19th; and Eunice LaMica and Kerry Wald placing 21st. Cynthia Bottero and Robin Pease, swimming together for only the second time, placed 30th, thus qualifying for Junior National competition.

In the Solo event, Robin, Tina, and Pavia had previously attained qualifying scores at last year's Far Western AAU Championships in Albuquerque, NM, but both Stacey Hicks and Suzy Hermanson were successful in their efforts to obtain their qualifying scores in this meet.

Cypress placements in the Preliminary Figures competition were: Robin Currier, fifth; Tina Wald, eighth; Pavia Wald, 11th; Suzy Hermanson, 16th; and Stacey Hicks, 23rd. In the Final Figures competition, Cypress placements were as follows: Robin Currier, seventh; Tina Wald, 10th; Pavia Wald, 18th; Suzy Hermanson, 35th; Robin Pease, 43rd; Kerry Wald, 58th; Mary Harris, 59th; Stacey Hicks, 61st; and Cynthia Bottero, 74th.

Seven of these girls will travel to Philadelphia during Easter Week to participate in the Senior National AAU Indoor Championships at the University of Pennsylvania, where they hope to retain their seeded status as the eighth-ranked team in the nation and possibly improve their position there before going on to Hilo, Hawaii in July for the Senior National AAU Outdoor Championships at Honolulu Swim Stadium.

Representing the Monterey Peninsula in Philadelphia will be Robin Currier, Mary Harris, Suzy Hermanson, Stacey Hicks, Kerry Wald, Pavia Wald, and Tina Wald. Cypress entries for the Indoor Nationals will consist of five Solos, three Duets, and one six-girl Team.

retrieval project of historical photographs depicting the traditional dwellings of the American Indian. Their Native American Houses Research Project is an inventory of some 12,000 images collected from over 30 historical and anthropological archives in the United States and Canada. These pictures represent every major Indian house-building tradition, including sacred dwellings, their religious use and interpretation. Nabokov and Easton plan a four-volume publication on their research.

The lecture will be presented Sunday, March 20, at Canterbury Woods Auditorium, 651 Sinex Avenue in Pacific Grove. Lecture time is 2:30 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

'Kennedy's Children' — part irony, comedy, tragedy

BY SEAN McLEOD

"Kennedy's Children," by Robert Patrick, now showing on MPC's main stage, is not so much a play as an experience. And the experience is slightly different for each viewer, depending on his own age, taste, and background.

It is a series of monologues by five characters who never relate to each other. Their only unity is in the accident of being in the same bar — quite appropriate, symbolically — and their preoccupations with their lives in the sixties. What they do is tell the audience — and themselves as well, since they all seem to have trouble believing that they got here from there — what the era was to them.

Morgan Stock, the director, is to be commended for choosing this unusual but valuable piece, and making it work. He successfully avoids most of the obvious traps and hazards — sometimes by a hairs-breadth — and elicits some impressive, balanced performances from his actors.

The play, which is slightly overwritten, starts slowly but builds inexorably to a series of Kafkaesque climaxes. It is well laced with ironic and topical humor, and the pacing is generally good.

(In fairness, it must be stated that some viewers did not feel that it started slowly, but rather that the ending was slow. Or they had some intermediate reaction — viewing it is necessarily subjective. The two halves of the production could be compared to a haunted house at noon, and then at midnight.)

There is some fine acting, and the performances are generally well balanced. There are some problems of technique, especially in the area of speech, but all the actors retain control of their characters through the gruelling (for an actor) evening.

Robert A. Colter is excellent as Sparger, the deviant theatre-bum. He portrays the urban sexipath, a cultural freak, with both strength and sympathy — he could actually be someone's son, or brother, or something.

Janet L. Garland is impressive as Rona, the activist. She is everyone's tyedied, student-crusader niece, revelling in police-brutality, television coverage, and the contradictions of the drug culture. She even resents being called a "hippy."

Sheila Vaune DeAngelis is realistically neurotic as Carla, the would-be sex queen. The important event in her life is the death of Marilyn Monroe, not JFK. There is a wistful quality in both her dreams of glory and her casual bartering; and the climax of her story seems sadly inevitable.

Stephanie Cunningham is believable as Wanda, the drab fan of the Kennedys. She is the true believer in their short-lived "Camelot," and perhaps the saddest character on stage: she will spend her life detailing her fantasy, with no place to take it.

Ken Klingenstein does some outstanding acting as Mark, the Vietnam-junkie. He does perhaps too good a job: his character is real, and as horrifying as the prototypes, but it is rather strident and overwhelming for this production.

Joe DeVincenzo deserves special praise for playing the mute part of the bartender with energy, fidelity, and believability.

Visually, the show is a mixed bag. D. Thomas Beck has furnished an excellent setting, well designed and well crafted, but not used to maximum advantage. The nature of the play justifies a stylized concept of blocking, even to emphasize the episodic nature of the piece, but too often it seems merely wooden.

Connie Gamiere's costumes enhance the production, being appropriate and unobtrusive, but at the same time imaginative. Unfortunately the costumes, the actors, and the audience suffer from the terrible lighting. The original concept is probably good, but the execution is offensive.

"Kennedy's Children" is an interesting production, certainly worth seeing. Part comedy, part irony, and part tragedy, it says some valuable things about who and what we are.

CHS dance concert set

Carmel High School is presenting a modern dance concert entitled "Put on Your High Heeled Sneakers," to be held at the Robert Louis Stevenson School auditorium on March 24 and 25 at 8:00 p.m. A $1.00 donation is requested.

The dances range in style from classical to jazz, modern to rock. There will be 14 dances given, performed by a total of 35 students. The show is under the direction of Marikay Bridges and guest choreographer Ruth Holine. Musical entertainment, provided by a former C.H.S. student, Lauri Hofer, will be featured at the beginning of the program.

DANCES from classical to jazz will be performed March 24 and 25 by 35 Carmel High School Students at the Robert Louis Stevenson School Auditorium.

Tantamount exhibit opens

Showing at the Tantamount Theatre Green Room Gallery in Carmel Valley is "Anthropo-metamorphosis," an unusual combination of graphics by Pacific Grove artist Misha Pavlov, and photographs by Martha Pearson, a first-prize winner in the Pine Cone's "Visions '76" photographic competition. All the works relate to a single theme.

Gallery hours are: Tuesdays through Saturdays from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. (ring the bell); and Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings from 7:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Films showing at the Tantamount for the remainder of the month are "Zero de Conduite" and "Sous les Toits de Paris" (March 18, 19 and 20), and "The Smallest Show on Earth" (March 25, 26 and 27). Curtain time is 8:40 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, and 8 p.m. on Sundays.

FTG play auditions

Auditions for the Forest Theater Guild summer productions of Romeo and Juliet, and Twelfth Night have been announced.

Romeo and Juliet, directed by Peter Magee, will have auditions March 27 from 1-3 p.m.; March 27 and 28, 7-9 p.m. For Twelfth Night, directed by Richard Geer, auditions will be held April 17 from 1-3 p.m.; and April 18 and 19, 7-9 p.m.

The auditions will be held at the Outdoor Forest Theater, Mt. View and Santa Rita Streets, Carmel. Auditions are open to all students, adults and military personnel. College credit can be earned by participation in any phase of production.

For further information, call 649-4548, or 624-0985.

Where to boogie, where to waltz

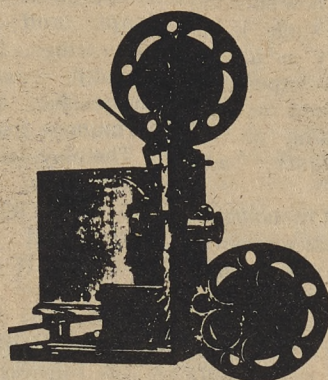

You can start off your weekend with a patriotic gesture — drop in on the home grown rock of California, the Peninsula's very own group, now playing at THE BOILER ROOM. California, although it has gone through a few personnel changes over the years, was started originally by fugitives from the MPC band and remains one of the few Monterey-based rock groups. Peninsula audiences accept California's original material as if they heard it everyday on the radio. The group pounds out some pretty advanced stuff, but has been described as playing anything from "hot bubble gum top 40 hits" to "sophisticated jazz."

Right down in the same neighborhood is an incredible little joint called DOC RICKETTS' LAB. It's a combination of sedate, Victorian charm upstairs (complete with stain glass and tiffany lamps) and rocking New York-San Francisco type disco down. The whole thing is done in the Doc Ricketts spirit, with something happening every night and — if there's nothing special — they'll call a Doc Ricketts birthday party. They've got a couple of interesting sounding events on tabs, like a Wet T-shirt Contest slated for March 31. That's when women wearing wet wardrobes wend their way out onto the dance floor... and so on. Then there's a tequila sunrise party coming up too.

You don't have to "bump" to enjoy the Peninsula's night scene, nor do you have to bubble through champagne music. Pierre Saint Pierre, now at GEORGES in the Carmel Holiday Inn (Rio Road and Highway 1) is a good example. Pierre strums and sings his way through anything from "Fire and Rain" to "I'm Easy." They tried to put Pierre on the spot the other night — he takes requests — by asking for a wedding song. Pierre nodded quietly, knocked out a new beat, and brought the house to the dance floor with "In the Still of the Night." Pierre is out there performing Wednesday through Sunday from 9 p.m.

The CASA MUNRAS does most places in town a few nights better by providing easy dancing seven (count them, seven) nights a week. Located at Fremont and Munras in Monterey they feature the Joe Ingram Trio Sunday and Monday and Sal Mercruio's Trio Tuesday through Saturday.

Spring concert at Mission Sunday

The Monterey Peninsula College Chorus directed by Dr. Harvey Marshall will give its 27th annual Spring Concert on Sunday, March 20 in the Carmel Mission Basilica. Selections will include the works of Mozart, J.S. Bach and Britten. The program will start at 8:15 p.m. and admission will be free.

Mozart's "Regina Coeli" sung by the Chorus and four soloists will open the program. Featured voices will be Donna Woodford, soprano; Jennifer Scanlon, contralto; Richard Kinney, tenor, and Ted Hamel, bass-baritone. Donna Layton will be the soloist with the Chorus in a presentation of Benjamin Britten's "Festival Te Deum."

Solo selections from Bach's "Magnificat" will be sung by Steve Emlaw, tenor; Ms. Woodford and Tamara Jacobowsky, sopranos, and Ms. Scanlon, contralto. They will be assisted by flutists Yvonne Force and Rita Fabrizio, and oboist Mike Andersen.

The aria from the Wedding Cantata by Bach, "Sich uben im Lieben," will be performed as a soprano and oboe duet by Ms. Jacobowsky and Anderson. Psalm 57 will be sung by Jean Berger.

Right now millions of Americans are being forced to sit back and rock their lives away. Simply because they're older. Stop and think about it!

It's going to happen to you. You're going to be "older" someday. Maybe sooner than you think.

And you're going to have to face the same problems that exist today. Unless you start changing your attitudes about aging now. Get rid of your stereotypes.

Try and imagine what you'll be like. What you'll want to do. What you'll want to contribute. That's all we ask.

But you'd better hurry. If you don't want to take your old age sitting down, get off your rocker and separate the facts from the myths.

Now. For more information on what you can do, write:

The National Council on the Aging, Inc. Box 28503, Washington, D.C. 20005.

Unrepaired leaks could be deadly!

- Leaks not only cost money, they waste precious supplies of a rare resource.
- A slow drip can waste 24 gallons of water in 24 hours.
- A tiny trickle only one-sixteenth of an inch wide can mean 100 gallons down the drain each day.
- An uncorrected leak one-eighth inch wide wastes 400 gallons a day. Check your home for leaks and fix them.
